Deep-Sea Fishing Rodeo

August 7-8-9

Anglers from all over the South will be angling toward Mobile and Dauphin Island this weekend for the 32nd annual Alabama Deep-Sea Fishing Rodeo sponsored by the Mobile Junior Chamber of Commerce. During these three days, thousands of fishermen, young and old, will be fishing for prize winners day after day. Also there will be live stage entertainment along with dances and parties at the various casinos. For the time being, the fishing will be limited to the Gulf waters. Prize money this year totals $7,000. The cannon will be fired at 5:00 a.m. on Friday, August 7, by lovely Linda Gail Nordan, 1964 Rodeo Queen, to signal the start of the competition. Prizes will be awarded for various forms of extra entertainment for everyone. While enjoying the glamour have attended the Rodeo before you'll be interested to know that no longer must you pay a toll on the over-seas highway from the mainland to the island. For the first time since the Rodeo began you will have a toll-free automobile route to Dauphin Island. For a weekend of fish 'n' fun, regardless of whether you choose fishing, swimming, sightseeing, boating or simply relaxing, plan now to be on hand for the fabulous 1964 Alabama Deep-Sea Fishing Rodeo, August 7, 8, and 9.

Auburn Sets Admission Requirements

High school students must be accepted for admission by Auburn University at the time of making application for dormitory space. A new policy to this effect has been approved by the Administrative Council.

Admission requirements involving both minimum scores on national approved college entrance tests and the student's high school record remain the same as do the other procedures of application for admission.

The new policy insures that rooms will be reserved for only those students meeting admission requirements. For the time being, the policy will largely affect women applicants since at Auburn all women must live in University approved dormitories. At present, men students may arrange for rooms either on campus or in the community.

Due to limited campus housing, Auburn was unable to consider applications from some 450 to 500 women seeking admission for the 1964 fall quarter, according to Admissions Director Jay Brumfield. Brumfield predicted that more high school seniors will be applying for admission early so as to assure obtaining dormitory space. The Office of Admissions begins accepting applications for admission for winter, spring, summer and fall quarters on October 1.

"Without a doubt, academic records and test scores will be reviewed even more carefully than before. This does not mean that Auburn University is forgetting its Land-Grant heritage and seeks to become a highly selective institution."

"It does mean, however, that as long as dormitory facilities are inadequate to accommodate all men and women and as long as the University has an increasing shortage of qualified teachers and classroom space, priority should be given to those applicants who are best prepared to do successful academic work and to those who earnestly seek an Auburn degree," said Brumfield.

Scout Council Leads Region In Membership

The Alabama Florida Boy Scout Council is leading Region V in membership growth and may be top in the nation, according to Council Scout Executive Connie M. Hay.

He said the council has experienced an increase of 34 percent in the past year, and 8.8 percent over January of this year. The total boy membership is 3,817. Hay added that the increase in packs, troops and posts over a year ago is 44 and a gain of 18 since January 1. The Scout official termed this a "phenomenal growth."

Region V includes Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Northwest Florida. The Alabama-Florida Council includes Jackson and Calhoun Counties in Florida and Houston, Henry, Barbour, Pike, Baldwin, Geneva, Coffee and Covington Counties in Alabama.

TURKEYS BY THE THOUSANDS - C. B. and Laura Barker are raising turkeys by the thousands and have several thousand hens that will be sold from the farm Wednesday. The birds, now weighing approximately 21 pounds will be sold when they reach near 30 pounds. The Barkers have ready and near-ready about 9,000 turkeys with several thousand that was put on the yard this week.

There is a freedom and flurry amidst the attractive bronze turkeys on the Barker farm. Representatives from this newspaper were amazed at the many turkeys that apparently welcomed the photographer and even stood in position in a posed stance waiting for pictures to be taken.

Turkeys are said to be stupid but they are the smartest stupid birds this reporter has ever seen. According to an article recently in a daily newspaper turkeys will strangle themselves to death by getting the head in a hole too small for them and any shadow out by many turkey growers to prevent a turkey from committing suicide from frightening shadows.

While the picture session was going on at the Barker farm the turkeys spread their bluish tipped feathers fanwise and raised above his back as in courtship. It was fascinating to watch the turkeys as they strutted about as if ready for the picture to be taken. When a noise was made the turkeys immediately went "gobble-gobble" in a roar that impressed of an echo.

Turkey raising requires special care of the young, or poults, for several weeks after they have been hatched. They must be kept dry and warm and many die from being caught in the rain or from running in damp grass. Growers have learned all this and prevent such losses.

Wild turkeys were formerly plentiful but now that they are rare, the domesticated turkey, the descendant of the wild, is a common sight in poultry yards both in America and in Europe. Turkeys were carried to Europe from the New World early in the 16th century. The American bronze turkey, like those at the Barker farm, is the largest of the domestic birds and is from the stock of the Mexican wild turkey and attains a weight of 40 pounds or more.

Thanksgiving and roast turkey are synonymous in the United States. From the Pilgrim's first Thanksgiving Day, when Indians brought wild turkeys for the feast, no Thanksgiving menu has been complete without its roast turkey.

But according to the success of the Barker's with their turkeys there is no need to wait until Thanksgiving to enjoy a turkey menu.

Mullins Defeats Roberts By 91 Votes

A tight vote turned out Tuesday to elect a mayor and councilmen. There was never any real excitement among candidates to create interest in the election. L. P. Mullins was elected mayor over incumbent Dozier Roberts. Mullins served as mayor from 1934 until October 1956. He was defeated by Hershel Taylor in 1956 and by Dozier Roberts in 1960. Roberts was elected in his first political adventure four years ago over two opponents for mayor.

Owen Ziglar for councilman at-large received the highest number of votes in Tuesday's election, 976 votes in Ward No. Two, 993 in Ward No. Three, 954 in Ward No. Four. Votes were cast as follows:

Mayor - Mullins, 547; Roberts, 456.
Councilmen:
Councilman-at-Large - Inman, 268; Ziglar, 683.
Ward No. One - Cotten, 62; Hawkins, 638; Newton, 315.
Ward No. Two - Lindsey, 497; Morrow, 479.
Ward No. Three - Brunson, 165; Cook, 435; Folsom, 393.
Ward No. Four - Brock, 442; Trammell, 512.

AN INVITATION

The public is cordially invited to attend a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. James Paternos on Tuesday evening, August 18th, from 7:30 until 9 o'clock, in the Social Hall of the Elba First Baptist Church.

DOUGLAS EASTER, President of the Elba Chamber of Commerce, presents $50 check to R. W. DeVaughn as an expression of appreciation by the Elba business community for bringing the first bale of cotton to an Elba gin this year.

DeVaughn, a well known Coffee County farmer, lives on Elba Route 4. He has 87 acres in cotton this year. Mr. DeVaughn says that his success with cotton is due mostly to early planting. Early planting and the use of Soda makes a quick crop before the boll weevils have a chance to have several hatchings and results in less damage.

Cooper Suggests World's Fair Visitor Comments

Visitors to the New York World's Fair from post offices man the facility which handles all the Fair's mail and comes from the Flushing, New York area. The carefully-chosen group of 80 employees from the New York City Post Office man the facility which handles all the Fair's mail and comes from the Flushing, New York area. The carefully-chosen group of 80 employees from the New York City Post Office man the facility which handles all the Fair's mail and comes from the Flushing, New York area.

The post office handles approximately 250,000 pieces of mail each day. Postcards to friends and relatives back home are a big item. About 30,000 are mailed from the Fair each day. One third of these are addressed to persons overseas. Foreign visitors have no trouble understanding U.S. postal operations. The facility has staff members who speak twenty languages.

Postmaster Robert Cooper notes that residents of Elba who attend the Fair and wish to try out their foreign language ability can either talk with the multilingual window clerks or listen to a tape recording presentation in the post office lobby which features individual earphones for those who speak Japanese, French, German, Italian, and Spanish.

New equipment on hand includes an experimental Pitney-Bowes centrifugal which spins envelopes rapidly around a wheel-like mechanism and places stamps and postmarks on the envelope at a rate of 500 letters a minute.

Letters are sorted to go all over the world by machines which position the mail so that the addresses are visible to an operator who sits in front of a keyboard similar to that on a typewriter. By pressing the correct buttons, 100 letters a minute are automatically directed to bins for 50 different destinations.

A larger device, the Burroughs sorter, drops letters and cards into 131 different bins at a rate of 58 letters per minute for each of the twelve operators.

The work area is surrounded by a ramp and gallery for visitors which is open from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M., seven days a week. Tape recorded vignettes explain the action on the work floor and describe the operations of each machine.

Outside the building, mail boxes from 21 countries serve as background for the red, white and blue box of the United States. A prototype stainless steel mail box being tested as an eventual replacement for the standard box used for the past forty years is located at one of the Fair's busiest intersections.

Postmaster Cooper suggests that Elba area visitors to the Fair express their comments on the new box by dropping a note addressed to the Superintendent of the Fair Post Office through the modernistic mail slot. Postage is not necessary. If they wish, visitors may discuss their reactions with clerks at the post office building.

Death Comes Unexpectedly To Kinston Resident

Mrs. Willie E. Clark, 69, a prominent citizen of Kinston and retired school teacher, died unexpectedly last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Clark was giving the lesson at a Home Demonstration meeting when she became ill. She was rushed to an O.P. hospital where she died in the emergency room.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Kinston Baptist Church with the Reverend Klinghagen and the Reverend Strozier officiating. Burial was in the New Providence Cemetery. Survivors include her husband, George W. Clark; Kinston; three sisters, Miss Nellie Williams and Mrs. E. C. Newell, both of Birmingham, and Mrs. Bessie L. Mason, of Birmingham.

Active prearrangers were E. C. Newell, Wendell Clark, Tommy Blackstock, Hefflin Smith, Howard Bess and Norman Clark.

GOLD OUTFLOW—Pointing out that in all but 6 of the last 34 years government spending has exceeded its income, the U.S. Treasury has reduced our gold stock from $24.5 billion to $15.5 billion, mostly by purchases with aid dollars. Rep. James H. Pickett (R-Mont.) has called for elimination of deficit spending by the Treasury in foreign aid expenditures.

BOOTSTRAP, INC.—Rep. M. C. Snyder (R-Ky.) reports that the U.S. Treasury's 1964 Social Security bill is enacted into law. Included are those who worked in jobs covered by Social Security but not long enough to qualify for pensions under present rules and widows whose husbands worked only briefly under Social Security. The estimated annual cost is $250 million.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest force for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a place of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: 1. For his own sake. 2. For the sake of his community and nation. 3. For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. 4. For the sake of the world, which needs his moral and material support.

ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT THE PENSIONS AND SECURITY DEPARTMENT.

Send your questions to Mrs. Jean Spencer, 515 Administrative Building, Montgomery, Alabama. We'll find the answers in this column.

How many families get children for adoption every year?

The number varies - but usually between 200 and 300 children are placed each year by the Department of Pensions and Security. Other placements are made by licensed agencies and some couples adopt children of relatives or children placed by their parents.

Why are old age payments higher than those for other categories?

Because a large amount of the money provided by the Department is earmarked for the old age program and cannot be spent for other needy groups.

Can I get an old age pension if I live with my son and daughter-in-law? I have no income.

The fact that you live with your son will not keep you from getting a pension if you need the money. It depends on whether he provides for your needs by agency standards. Many persons who live with their children receive pensions.

Can I apply for Medical Assistance for the Aged and get on the list so I'll be sure to have it if I have to go to the hospital?

Your application will not be approved unless you are a doctor is sending you to the hospital within 30 days for acute illness, major injury or eye surgery.

Can a person get two kinds of assistance? I am getting aid to the permanently and totally disabled and I'll be 65 next month. Can I get an old age pension?

You cannot get two types of aid, but you are supposed to be transferred from aid to the permanently and totally disabled to the old age pension program when you are 65. It will be well for you to call your age to the attention of the Department now. Your old age check probably will be higher and also you will be eligible for certain medical benefits provided pensioners, but not disabled recipients.

I am 66 and blind. Would I be better off to apply for aid to the blind or an old age pension?

It depends on your circumstances. If you have earned income, most of it is not counted in figuring need for aid to the blind. On the other hand, if you are not working, you might benefit more from the old age pension program. The Department will figure it both ways and if you are eligible for either program, you can receive aid under the one most advantageous to you.

Can I get an old age pension if my son claims me as an income tax deduction? He gives me $20 a month and I get $33 Social Security?

The law says to claim a parent as an income tax deduction, you must meet at least half his or her needs. The Department of Pensions and Security considers that your son meets half your needs if he claims you. However, if the $33 and any other income you have is not enough for the rest of your needs, and you meet other requirements, you may qualify for a small pension.

One of a series of reports by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association on the advantages of print media

Most people do. They count on advertising in print to give them the information they want on products that interest them—information on features, designs, and prices, for example. People not only read about products and services, they show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples; they tear out ads to take along when they go shopping.

When you add it all up, print advertising—the kind you read in the pages of this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of first consumers, print makes sales. Most people read—and then buy. Don't you?

Miss Beverly Rainer entertained at her home on Tuesday evening, August 4, with a Hawaiian Luau honoring Miss Susan Stunford, of Pine Apple, Alabama; Miss Nancy Rainor, of Montgomery, and Vandy VanBlaricum, of Washington, D. C.

The recreation room was decorated to create the mood of the South Sea Islands. In each corner gnarled tree trunks stretched their branches to the ceiling. Orchids and large white and pink flowers hung from the tops of the trees while greenery, large rocks and bright colored flowers nestled at the base. Palm trees were placed about the room. Garden lights flickered in the darkness. Temples and shrines were placed about the room. Garden lights flickered in the darkness. Temples and shrines were placed about the room.

The guests were presented bright leis to enhance the beachcomber outfits, and musical merriment was theirs.

The punch bowl was banked with tropical fruits. Party foods were served from large lous leaves and palm fronds.

All enjoyed an evening of dancing and games.

Fred Hatway and Howard Smith, Jr., of the Kinston Community were busy late last week dusting cotton.

Hatway and Smith both said that some of their cotton was good and some of it was poor. I know that both of them along with a lot of other cotton growers will be glad to see the sun shine again.

HOLLAND RHOADES, center, and his son Glenn, a member of the Kinston 4-H Club, shows Peanut Specialist M. D. Bond some of their early runner peanuts. Bond is emphasizing the fact that peanuts even in adjoining fields may mature at different times. A good rule to follow is to check peanuts daily and when 60% of the nuts have turned dark, it is time to dig.

At or September. One good way to get rid of these moisture, fertility, and space robbers is to mow or spray once or twice during the growing season. This will help eliminate the bitterweed problem.

Folk in the Damascus Community are making serious plans to get a community water system. Bill Ray with the Farmer's Home Administration is working with Robert and John W. Stephens and others in the Damascus Community in pushing plans to get the facts on this project.

One or two other communities in the county may be eligible for long-term loans for water systems. If the Damascus folks want this system, I certainly hope things will develop favorably.

Last Thursday, the State Duroc breeders held a sale in Elba. In this sale, they offered some of the best Durocs to be found in this part of the country.

I saw several Coffee County farmers at the sale, and I understand that several of them bought some breeding stock.

Last Wednesday, the Coffee County Cattlemen's Association held one of their most successful sales. Approximately 210 head were sold to 20 different buyers. It appears that most everyone was happy with the sale. All that was needed was more cattle--the buyers were there.

The time is getting rather late, but those last season insects can still do us trouble. Keep 2 close check on those peanuts for worm damage. Late season boll weevils and bollworms can still cause us a lot of trouble. Keep a close watch on all crops that those costly insects.

Problem grasses in hedgerows, edges of gardens, and under fences need not remain a problem. They can be killed with a herbicide named dalapon.

Nematodes are costing vegetable growers an estimated 15% of their potential yield.
